(By Associated Press) WINNIPEG, June 3.—Strike sympathizers who made three parades to the provincial parliament since Friday and who yesterday announced a similar demonstration for today, changed their plans. A small parade proceeded to Victoria park for a mass meeting. Several leaders went to parliament to obtain a personal interview with Premier Norris. When their sympathizers gathered in Market Square it was reported that the military authorities were prepared to get if the paraders attempted disorderly acts. An official of the War Veterans' association explained that most of the returned soldiers, who figured in the previous parade, "accepted the advice of their executives" and refrained from demonstrations. Paterson, N. J., and New York. None of the men for whom the bombs were intended was hurt. In New York one watchman was killed, several persons injured and buildings wrecked.

In Washington, D. C., one of the plotters was blown to pieces when an infernal machine, intended for Attorney General Palmer, exploded prematurely. The police are confident that an anarchist stabbed his toe and fell six feet from the front door of the Palmer home. The police identified the dead anarchist probably an Italian, who came to Washington last night from Philadelphia.

The outrages are believed to be the sequel to the May Day plot. The scattering of anarchist literature and preaching a class war accompanied the explosions last night.

A bloodstained conductor's identity check in front of the Palmer residence shows the anarchist arrived in Washington at 10:30 last night. A few minutes before the explosion he was seen alighting from a street car a few blocks from the

SALE OF KEANE WONDER MINE AFTER PRODUCING $1,500,000

The Keane Wonder, which has produced $1,500,000, has been sold to a New York syndicate which will take possession immediately and arrange to resume work on this estate which is said to have the largest and most substantial body of low grade gold ore in the state. The sale was made by Tim Connolly and J. W. Dunfee, two of the best known Goldfield operators who have been active lately in turning several of the largest deals put through since the revival of mining activity. These partners were instrumental in making a sale of the Florence Goldfield after a score of others had tried to secure the property at various periods extending over three years. Finally everybody quit and gave up the Florence as a job that was too hard to tackle. Then Connolly and Dunfee effected the sale and received a handsome commission.

The same experience applies to the Keane Wonder which has been regarded as one of the most desirable properties for active development but obstacles prevented others from reaching the consummation. The Goldfield men are justly proud of their success and their friends believe they are entitled to congratulations.

The Keane Wonder was one of the best assets of the defunct State Bank and Trust company and was taken in by D. Mackenzie as part settlement of his claim against the bank and was operated under direction of Homer Wilson. The mine suspended two years ago and remained idle ever since.

Palmer home by C. S. Briggs of Marion, S. C.

The police are confident a nationwide plot was laid in Philadelphia. On the sweatband of a hat found near the scene was inscribed the name of "Deluca Brothers, Hatters, Philadelphia." It was first thought that two men had been killed by the explosion, but later it was established that there was only one victim.

The congression leaders said they are ready to pass any legislation immediately to deal with acts of violence designed to overthrow the government. Some believed the existing law sufficient.

The head of the dead anarchist was found on the roof of a house one block from the Palmer explosion.

The neighborhood in which the explosion occurred is one of the most fashionable in Washington. Two doors away lives Senator Swanson of Virginia. Directly opposite lives Rear Admiral Jewell, Assistant Secretary of the Navy. Roosevelt lives a short distance away.

SALE OF KEANE WONDER MINE AFTER PRODUCING $1,500,000

The estate includes a twenty stamp mill situated 200 feet above sea level in Death Valley and the mine is a mile distant and 1800 feet higher, connected by means of an aerial tramway which is almost new and ready for service. At one time the mine was stopping ore that averaged $16 a ton but at the present it is figured that a fair run of the mine would be $6.20 which leaves a good margin for the operating company. The buyers are represented by Irwin & Chandler of New York, and J. P. Williams. The latter is well known in Nevada as one who was identified with development of the Goldfield Gold Mountain district leading to the construction of the big mill at Bonnie Clare. After the Keane Wonder was under the management of Homer Williams a series of lawsuits were entered which resulted in tying up the mine which, however, remained in charge of Tim Connolly as representative of the owners. The plant is operated by fuel oil engines which actuate electric generators supplying light to the whole workings besides operating an ice plant which was deemed an essential element of the equipment owing to the intense heat in summer. The option taken up by the New York underwriters was secured last October and the sale was made after some of the leading engineers made exhaustive examination checking the statements of the selling agents.

TWO FEET ORE RUNS $324 TON

Buying orders for Divide Extension continue to hold the market strong with a steady accession of strength arising from the fact that the showing in the Caldwell shaft is stronger and better than the management ever anticipated. There is no disposition on the part of the company to quote assays of the high grade streak on the real value lies in the returns from the two feet of ledge matter which improves with each shot. This morning's assays gave returns of $324 for the full face excluding the rich streak and when it is understood that the faces of the two drifts are 45 feet apart without any sign of the walls the importance of the showing cannot be over estimated. Roy Hardy, representing Herb Humphrey, arrived from Reno this morning and went direct to the mine where he spent the greater part of the day making a close examination. Out of a total of 404,300 shares turned over in San Francisco this morning 82,500 shares represented trading in Divide Extension.

Tom Walker, two prominent young men of Reno who were among the first to go overseas, were severely injured in a motorcycle accident recently in France. Booth is said to be in a serious condition, having had both his legs broken. Walker was also injured, receiving a fracture of the leg, according to the Reno Gazette.

The information came to Reno through Mrs. Walker, now a resident of New York. According to news received by her the two young men had been transferred from the First to the Eighty-ninth division that they might sail with it to America at an early date. After receiving their transfer they left headquarters on a motorcycle which was wrecked while they were proceeding back to their own quarters.
